

Player Booklet

Journeyways

A BOARD GAME ABOUT BECOMING.

*Step into a world where identity is not chosen but uncovered.
In Journeyways, you don't play to win; you play to unfold.*

Quick Reference

Each turn has three phases: Explore, Pick, Reflect.

- Explore: place a map tile (or invent one on a sticky note), then move one or two spaces.
- Pick: take a card from any pile, even the Discard pile.
- Reflect: do what the card asks, then write in your journal.

What the card colours mean

- Green: movement.
- Blue: a quote to reflect on.
- Red: an encounter.
- Purple: a group event (leave these out for solo play).
- Black: the passing of time. The game ends when the fifth Black card is picked.

Good to know

- Green and Purple ask you to perform the action shown; Blue and Red invite a journal entry.
- There is no winning or losing, only becoming. Take as much time as you need.
- Turns are not strict: play when you have the opportunity to do so.
- Any rule can be bent or changed, as long as everyone playing agrees.

[illegible]

Journeyways

A faint, stylized illustration of a person's face and upper body, rendered in a light gray tone, overlaid on a background of horizontal lines. The illustration is positioned in the upper right quadrant of the page, with the person's head tilted back and arms raised, suggesting a state of joy or freedom. The background consists of a series of horizontal lines, with the top line being a darker shade of gray and the subsequent lines being a lighter shade, creating a subtle gradient effect. The overall composition is minimalist and modern, with a focus on the interplay between the illustration and the background lines.
